BORAH ALARMS REPUBLICANS BY HIS STAND ON LEAGUE; TO WARN HARDING TO-NIGHT

Expected to Give an Ultimatum to Republican Nominee
In Speech at Danbury.

AROUSED BY ROOT PLAN.

Determined to Get an Explicit
Explanation of Harding's
Attitude on World League.

(From a Special Correspondent of The Evening World.)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—The speech of Senator Borah, scheduled to be delivered to-night at Danbury, Conn., is awaited with expectancy by politicians in Washington, and especially by those allied with the Republican organization.

"The crisis in the campaign has been reached," is the way Republicans express it, while Democrats see it as the turning-point where the two factions of the Republican party must take opposite routes, since they are going in different directions on the paramount issue of the campaign.

A premonition of "something dreadful about to happen" has hung over many leading Republicans for the past few days, despite the cheerful talk of Chairman Hays and many others. Privately it is admitted that the effort of Will Hays and others to keep the pro-League and anti-League factions together until election day is fast failing. The statement of President Wilson, made public today, has created renewed enthusiasm among Democrats, who characterize the President's action as a master stroke at the psychological moment when the country's attention is riveted on the League issue by the differences that have arisen between the League and anti-League factions of the Republican Party despite the repeated statement of Senator Harding, since the report of differences between himself and Borah and Johnson that there is no friction.

Those close to Senator Borah say that the Idaho Senator in his Danbury speech will virtually serve an ultimatum on the Presidential nomination, and Harding will be expected to reply with something more specific than he has yet given utterance to on the League question.

Senator Borah is aroused as he has not been since the campaign started, his friends say, by reports that Elihu Root and Senator Harding have an understanding which will result in the World Court plan brought back by Senator Root being embraced by Harding in the event of his election as part of his plan for an "Association of Nations."

Senator Borah has selected Connecticut as the theatre of his new anti-League activities because he wants to address Senator Frank B. Rowland, another pronounced "bitter-end," in his fight for re-election. He will make no more speeches for the National ticket unless Senator Harding gives a satisfactory and unequivocal declaration with respect to his League views.

Senator Borah's original plan was to send a list of questions to Senator Harding, but he is said to have abandoned this in favor of a series of speeches in Connecticut, which are expected to be given wide publicity and which in their nature must call for reply from the pro-League elements of the party as well as the presidential nominee.

$10,000 IN GEMS EXPOSED ON ROCK SINCE LAST JULY

Part of $30,000 Burglary in Home on Hudson Probably Abandoned by Robber.

Jewels valued at $10,000, part of $30,000 in booty taken from the safe of David L. Luke's country mansion near Irvington-on-Hudson on July 17 last, has lain exposed on a flat rock in the woods three miles from the Luke estate ever since that time. It was learned to-day, when the jewels were turned over to Sheriff Nossiter at White Plains, by the finders, Walter Conklin and Pietro Gloguin.

The loot was said to have been left by Leroy Green, a young negro, who was arrested in Chicago and who has just been indicted for the robbery. Two-thirds of the stolen jewelry was found in a Chicago safe deposit box where, it is alleged, Green admitted he had placed it.

Green's identification as the robber was rendered possible by a peculiarity in his voice which Mrs. Luke said she would never forget. His face was wrapped in a sheet when she entered the Luke house and forced Mrs. Luke to open a safe and hand over the family jewels. It is believed the burglar was frightened away while sorting the jewels on the flat rock by the approach of some one and that he abandoned a third of it in his haste to escape.

GAMBLER FINDS "BASEBALL IS TOO CROOKED FOR BETS"

Veteran Chicago Bookmaker
Will Quote No Odds This Year, He Says.

SCHALK WILL TESTIFY.

Grand Jury to Take Up
Charges That Three 1920
Games Were "Fixed."

CHICAGO, Oct. 4.—For the first time in its baseball history Chicago will not receive its annual set of betting odds on the World's Series.

Jim O'Leary, veteran Chicago gambler, who has always quoted the odds in the past, said to-day he will have no book this year.

"I'm off gambling on baseball," he said. "It's too crooked."

Charges involving two new Major League clubs in connection with the recent expose of crooked baseball will be taken up by the Cook County Grand Jury when it resumes its probe here to-morrow of the alleged "fixing" of the 1919 world series.

The investigators will also take up the charge that the Aug. 31 game between Philadelphia and the Cubs was "fixed." Allegations that games between the Giants and Cincinnati in 1919 were "fixed" also will be taken up. John J. McGraw, manager of the Giants; Benny Kauff and Fred Touhy, Giants, were expected to testify regarding alleged attempts to bribe Giant players.

According to a published report here, to-day the Sox are said to have thrown at least three games on the last Eastern trip. Sox players may be subpoenaed to testify regarding this. The inside story of the alleged throwing of the 1919 World series and of games during the 1920 season probably will be sought from Ray Schalk, premier White Sox backstop. Schalk will be asked, if he is called before the investigating body, to tell when he first noticed any shadiness in the Sox playing and what steps he took to halt it.

Schalk, it is said, was the first to notice something wrong. His signals, according to the reports, were crossed by Eddie Cicotte and Claude Williams, Chicago pitchers who have confessed that they accepted bribes to throw games.

Whether any other Sox players were offered bribes is another point the jurors will seek light on, and it so, as to what was done about it. Schalk's reported first battle with another member of the Sox club following one of the world series games at Cincinnati last year will also be investigated. It was following this fight, according to reports, that Schalk went to Manager Gleason with his suspicion. Following this interview Gleason is said to have summoned several of the suspected players and flatly accused them of throwing games.

The affidavits of Hermann throw a curious sidelight on the sworn statement made by John A. Hyndler, President of the National League, that the charges made against Hal Chase when a member of Brooklyn Leads in City's Increase With 384,005 Gain—Manhattan Decrease Is 47,439.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—The population of New York City is 5,620,048, an increase of 353,165, or 17.9 per cent., according to revised figures announced to-day by the Census Bureau. The population as previously announced was 5,471,151.

The revised populations of the five boroughs of New York City were announced as follows: Manhattan, 2,284,103, decrease 47,439 or 2.0 per cent.; Bronx, 732,016, increase 301,036 or 69.8 per cent.; Brooklyn, 2,018,556, increase 384,005 or 23.6 per cent.; Richmond, 116,531, increase 39,562 or 35.6 per cent.; Queens, 469,942, increase 188,999 or 65.1 per cent.

The population of New York State is 10,384,144, an increase of 1,270,530 or 13.9 per cent. New Jersey has 3,165,374, an increase of 618,207 or 24.4 per cent.

The revised figures show the population of Yonkers is 100,176, an increase of 20,573 or 25.5 per cent.

Girl Heiress to $1,000,000 Claimed by Father Who Gave Her Away as Infant

15-Year-Old Daughter Says
She "Wouldn't Speak" to Parent.

HE IS GARAGE WORKER.

Girl First Adopted by Grandmother, Then Her Aunt,

"I have never seen my father. He never came to see me, and I wouldn't speak to him if he came to see me," was the statement to-day of fifteen-year-old Hazel Myers Shepard, the principal figure in a unique legal fight over about $1,000,000 she inherited from her foster mother, who also was her aunt. She is attending a fashionable boarding school for girls at Greenwich, Conn.

Hazel's father is David W. Myers of No. 101 Troy Avenue, Brooklyn, a garage worker. When she was eleven months old her mother died and her father consented to her legal adoption by his mother, Mrs. Mary Hyde Myers. Because of advanced age the grandmother several years ago decided to permit the re-adoption of Hazel by the latter's aunt, Mrs. Mary Myers Shepard, whose name she took.

Mrs. Shepard died Sept. 8, at Alhambra, N. J., leaving practically all her estate to her adopted child. Estimates of the fortune left to Hazel vary from $600,000 to more than $1,000,000. There seems to have been bitterness between Hazel's father and his sister, because Mrs. Shepard left another brother and two sisters legacies and did not mention him or her will. He now comes forward to break the will and get a share of the fortune as among the next of kin, and also to be adjudged his daughter's guardian instead of Frank B. York, a lawyer of No. 373 Broadway, named guardian by the foster mother. His fight to get back the daughter he gave away will be based on the claim

HAZEL MYERS SHEPARD

OWNS HOUSE BUT CAN'T LIVE IN IT

Landlord Seeking Shelter Has to Begin Court Proceedings All Over Under New Law.

Hippolyte Remonoff is still living at No. 267 West 50th street, while his landlord, Henry D. Brandes, roots his heels outside and says he needs the house for his personal shelter. "Anybody can live in a house nowadays except the man who owns it," commented one of the lawyers in the Fifth District Municipal Court to-day. About a month ago Brandes got a final order of eviction, which was to be executed Oct. 1. On that date Remonoff went to Justice Ellenbogen, who told him the order was no good and he could stay in the house. If the landlord wanted to take further action he would have to begin all over again under the new law.

So this morning the landlord renewed action, pleading that he wanted the house for his own use. Justice Ellenbogen referred the case to Justice Spence, who heard the first one.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—For the first time since 1918, President Wilson received to-day the Justices of the United States Supreme Court, who called to pay their respects. The annual visit to the President was omitted last year because of Mr. Wilson's illness.

SOVIET ARMIES IN FULL RETREAT WITH HUGE LOSSES

Reds, Demoralized, Surrendering or Deserting on Polish and Crimean Fronts.

42,000 ARE PRISONERS.

Pursuing Polish Cavalry Penetrates to Point 45 Miles From Minsk.

LONDON, Oct. 4.—The Bolshevik Armies, according to information reaching here from Russia, are in full retreat, both on the Polish front and in the Crimea. The troops are said to be demoralized, suffering from hunger and surrendering or deserting in large numbers.

WARSAW, Oct. 3.—On the Polish front, it was announced to-day that the cavalry pursuing the Russians has reached a point less than forty-five miles from Minsk. In various sectors the Bolsheviks were reported near the point of collapse. In one sector an entire brigade was taken prisoner virtually without a fight, the account declares. In the Pripiet region, after some fighting, the Poles captured 12,900 Russians. In the south, Gen. Romer's cavalry was reported to be making progress.

Sixteen Soviet divisions have been defeated completely, it is stated here. The staffs of the Third and Fourth Armies have been captured, and the staffs of the 1st, 11st, 56th and 57th Divisions and of several brigades and regiments also have been taken prisoner. The total number of prisoners is given as 42,000.

Guns to the number of 165 have been captured, and in addition 900 machine guns, 1,800 armored cars, seven armored trains, three airplanes, twenty-one locomotives, 2,500 wagons, ten motor cars and great stores of ammunition.

The delegation of military experts sent by the League of Nations to consider the situation brought about by the Polish-Lithuanian dispute arrived in Warsaw to-day on its way to Suwalki. The delegation, consisting of French, Spanish, Japanese and Italian officers, who were joined by an English representative from Riga, will be received by Gen. Pilsudski at the front. They then will continue on to Suwalki, where they will make their headquarters.

PITTSBURGH POLICE GET SUSPECT WHO REVIVES INQUIRY INTO BOMB PLOT

Had Suitcase Full of Dynamite, With Percussion Caps and Fuse—Lived in Brooklyn and Was Here on Day of Wall Street Explosion.

Reports that in the arrest of Florean Zelenaka, a Polish tailor of Brooklyn, at Pittsburgh, on a charge of having dynamite, detonating caps and a fuse in his possession, a clue had been obtained to the perpetrators of the bomb outrage in Wall Street on Sept. 16th, were investigated here to-day by Chief Flynn of the Department of Justice Secret Service and his staff.

Among those questioned by Chief Flynn and his agents were Leon Konkel, of No. 167 East Fourth Street, this city, a steamfitter, who gave the Pittsburgh police the information on which Zelenaka was arrested. These facts were unearthed by the Government sleuths.

Zelenaka worked in a powder mill in New Jersey in 1913 and preserved as mementoes of that employment some wires and other souvenirs he collected.

He lived in Brooklyn at No. 409 New Jersey Avenue and No. 470 Cleveland Street, and worked as a tailor on men's garments.

He left New York on Sept. 14, the date of the explosion, telling friends he was going out of town to look for work.

Yesterday on a train en route from Cincinnati to Pittsburgh he struck up an acquaintance with Konkel. He told Konkel he had been working in a mine in Huntington, W. Va., and had taken some dynamite from the mine.

On their arrival in Pittsburgh Konkel and Zelenaka went to the St. Charles Hotel and were given a room. When they reached the room Zelenaka showed Konkel several sticks of dynamite and Konkel hurried out and informed the police of the Central Station. Zelenaka was immediately arrested. Konkel took a late train for New York, arriving at noon and proceeding from the Pennsylvania Station to Chief Flynn's office, No. 14 Park Row.

Konkel told Chief Flynn that Zelenaka gloated over the Wall Street explosion and said he was in favor of that sort of campaigning against capitalism. He did not say he knew anything about the explosion.

Chief Flynn said that thus far he had not enough evidence to warrant him in asking for the extradition of Zelenaka from Pittsburgh to New York.

"Our report shows the man worked as a miner shortly before going to Pittsburgh," Flynn said. "As miners buy their own explosives this might account for him having the dynamite in his possession."

During the early hours to-day a large quantity of documents, books and other evidence taken from the man's room was being examined at the Federal headquarters, No. 14 Park Row. The Government agents declined to confirm a Pittsburgh dispatch that it was known where the prisoner obtained the dynamite seized there and that a score or more arrests would be made in Brooklyn to-day as a result of his admissions to Federal officials in Pittsburgh.

The arrest was reported here immediately to William J. Flynn, Chief of the Bureau of Investigation of the Department of Justice. He sent a squad of operatives under Special Agent Callahan to the Cleveland Street house, which is a six-family, three-story building in the heart of the foreign quarters of East New York.

HIS BROOKLYN LANDLORD SPEAKS WELL OF ZELENAKA. The Secret Service man questioned Terkasky, who made light of the story of his former lodger being connected with the Wall Street explosion. "He is too good a man," he said.

Terkasky and his wife and several other men and women were disarranged by the explosion.

A bomb exploded early this morning on the front porch of the home of Salvatore Taibi, No. 256 Burgess Place, Clifton, N. J., wrecking the porch, breaking all the windows, and bursting in the front door. No person was injured.

Taibi speaks very little English. He said he had received two threatening letters demanding money. They were signed, he said, by the Black Hand.
